

Is Trump II the Most Disruptive Presidency in U.S. International Relations?

Regime Shifts in U.S. Multilateral Alignment: Evidence from UN Voting Networks

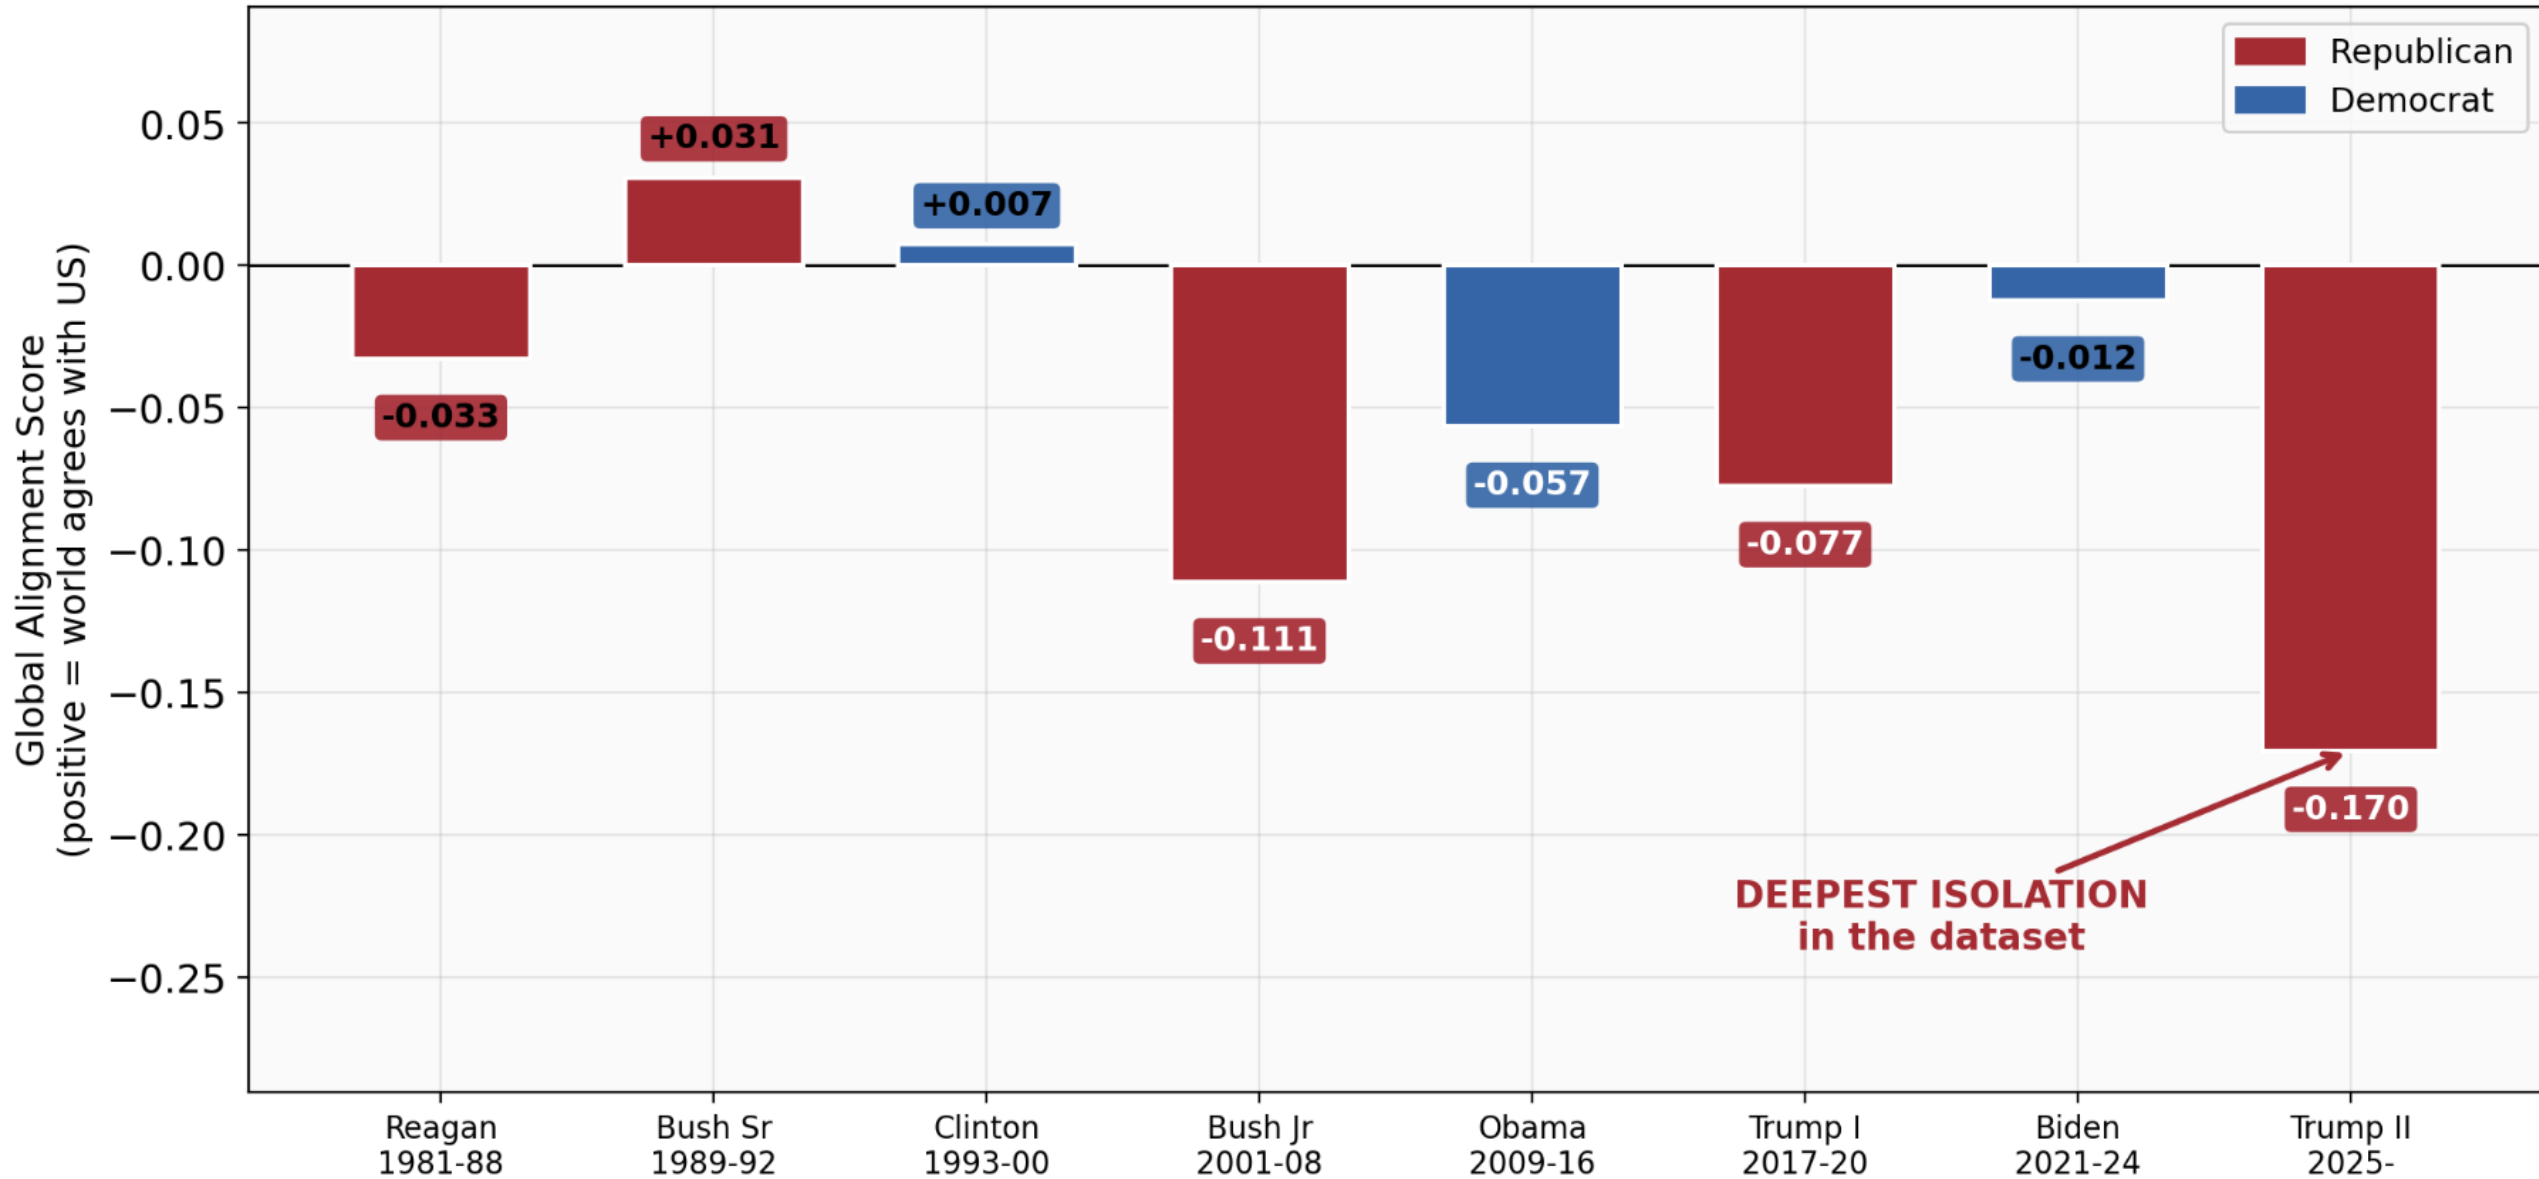

Álvaro Garrís Calzada

February 2026

U.S. Global Alignment in the UN General Assembly

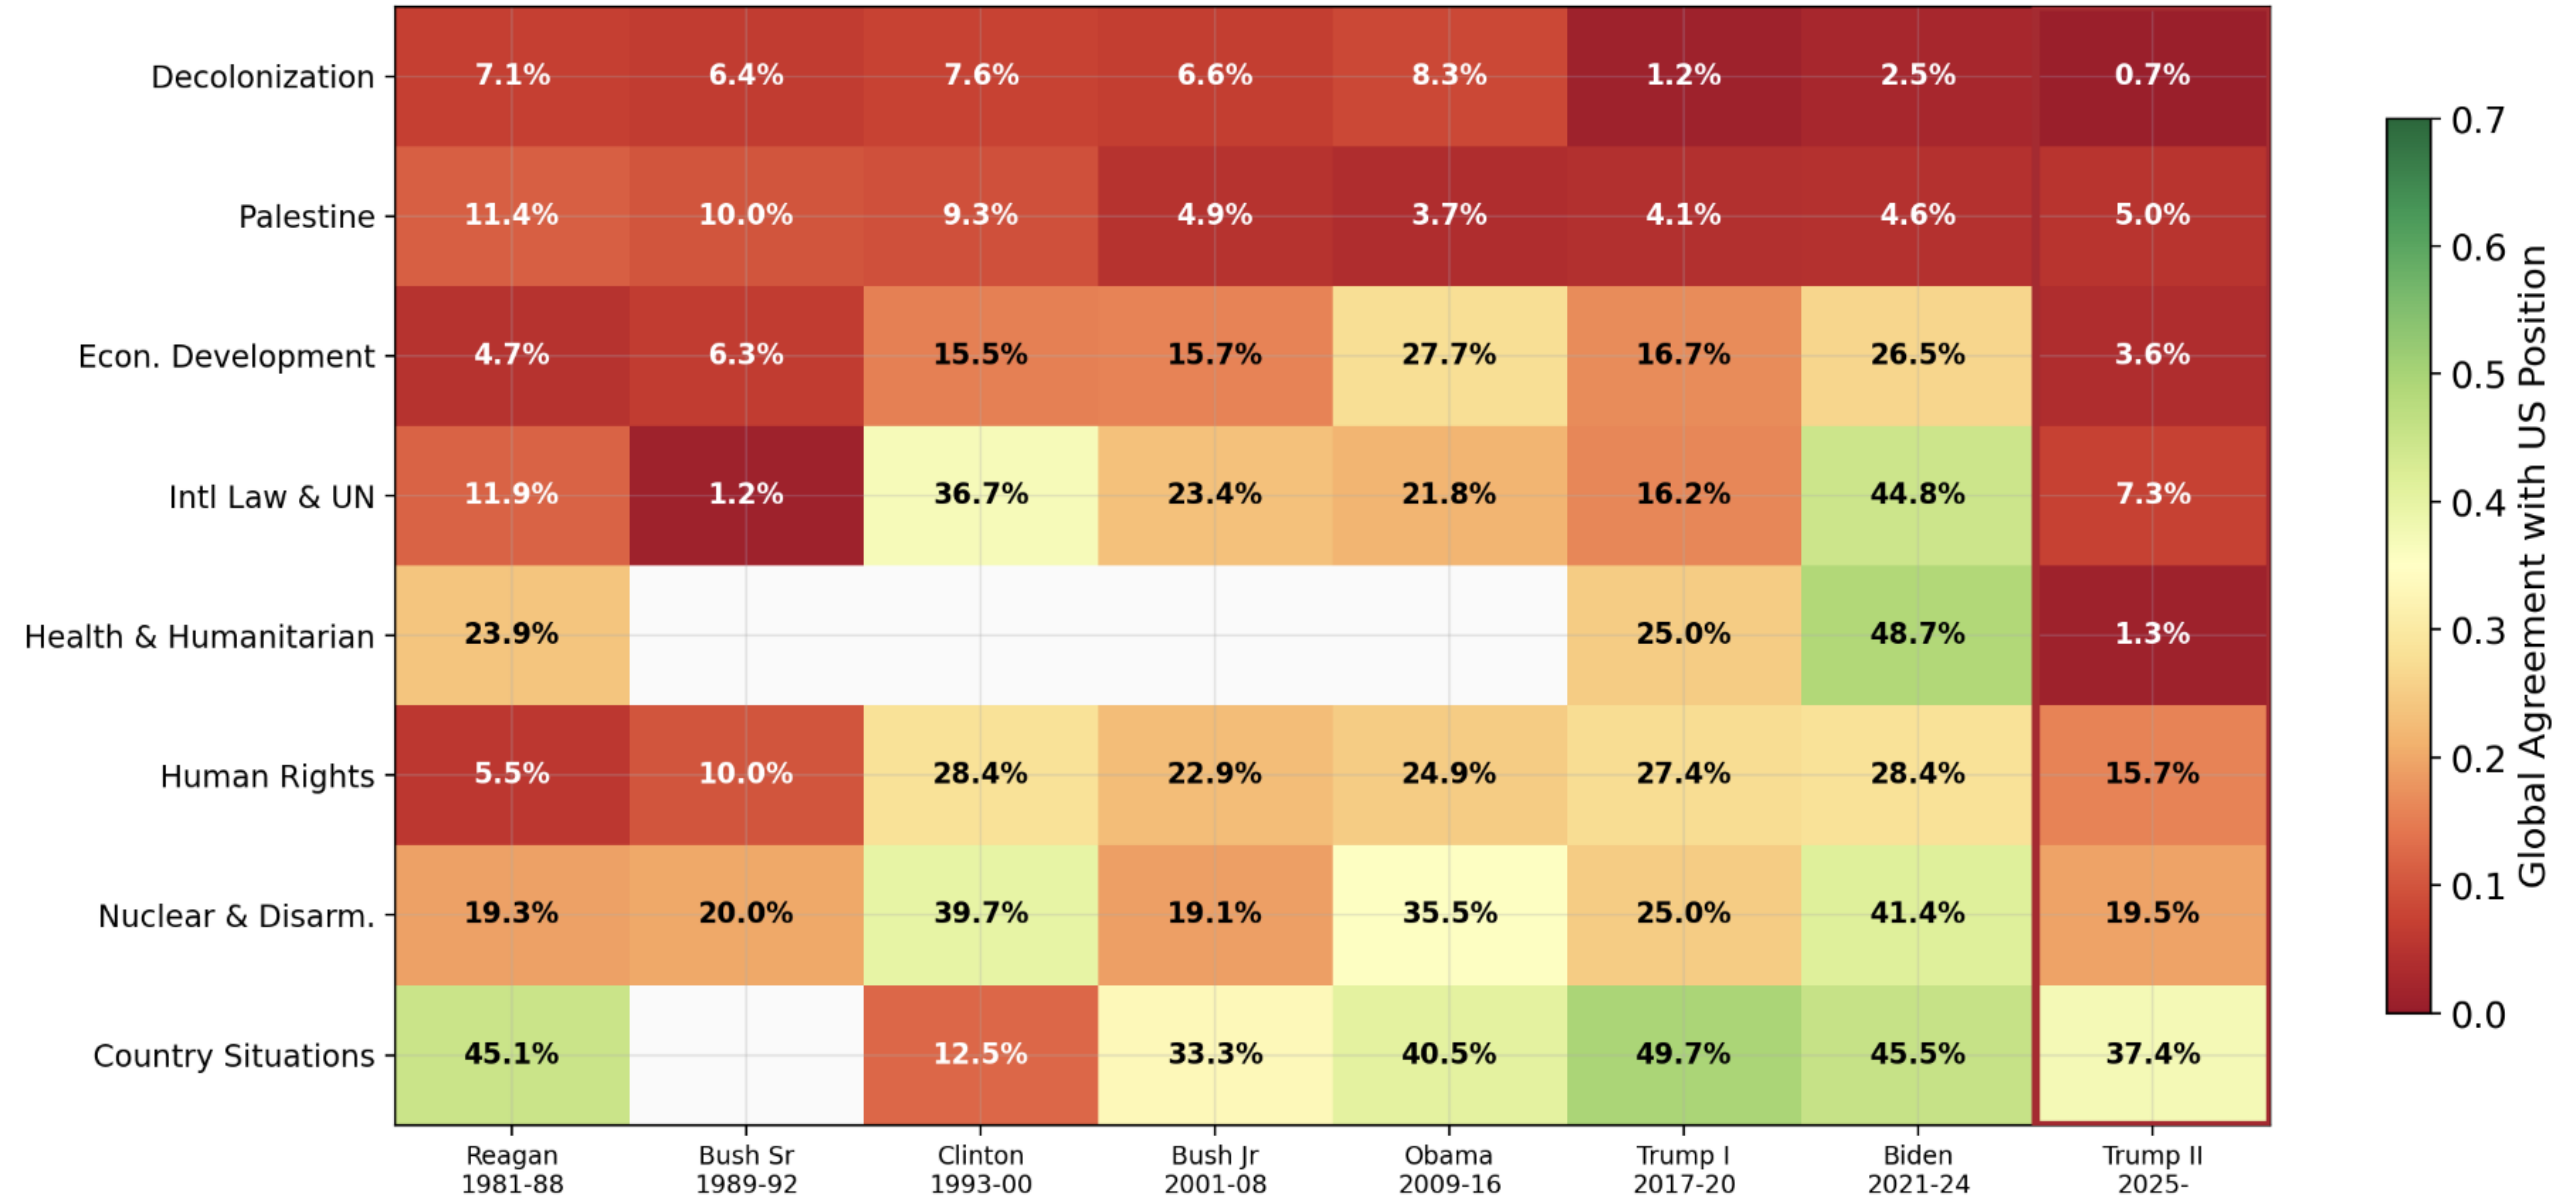

Trump II Reaches the Deepest Isolation in 40 Years

How Much Does the World Agree with the US? (by Topic & Presidency)

Green = High Agreement | Red = Near-Total Isolation

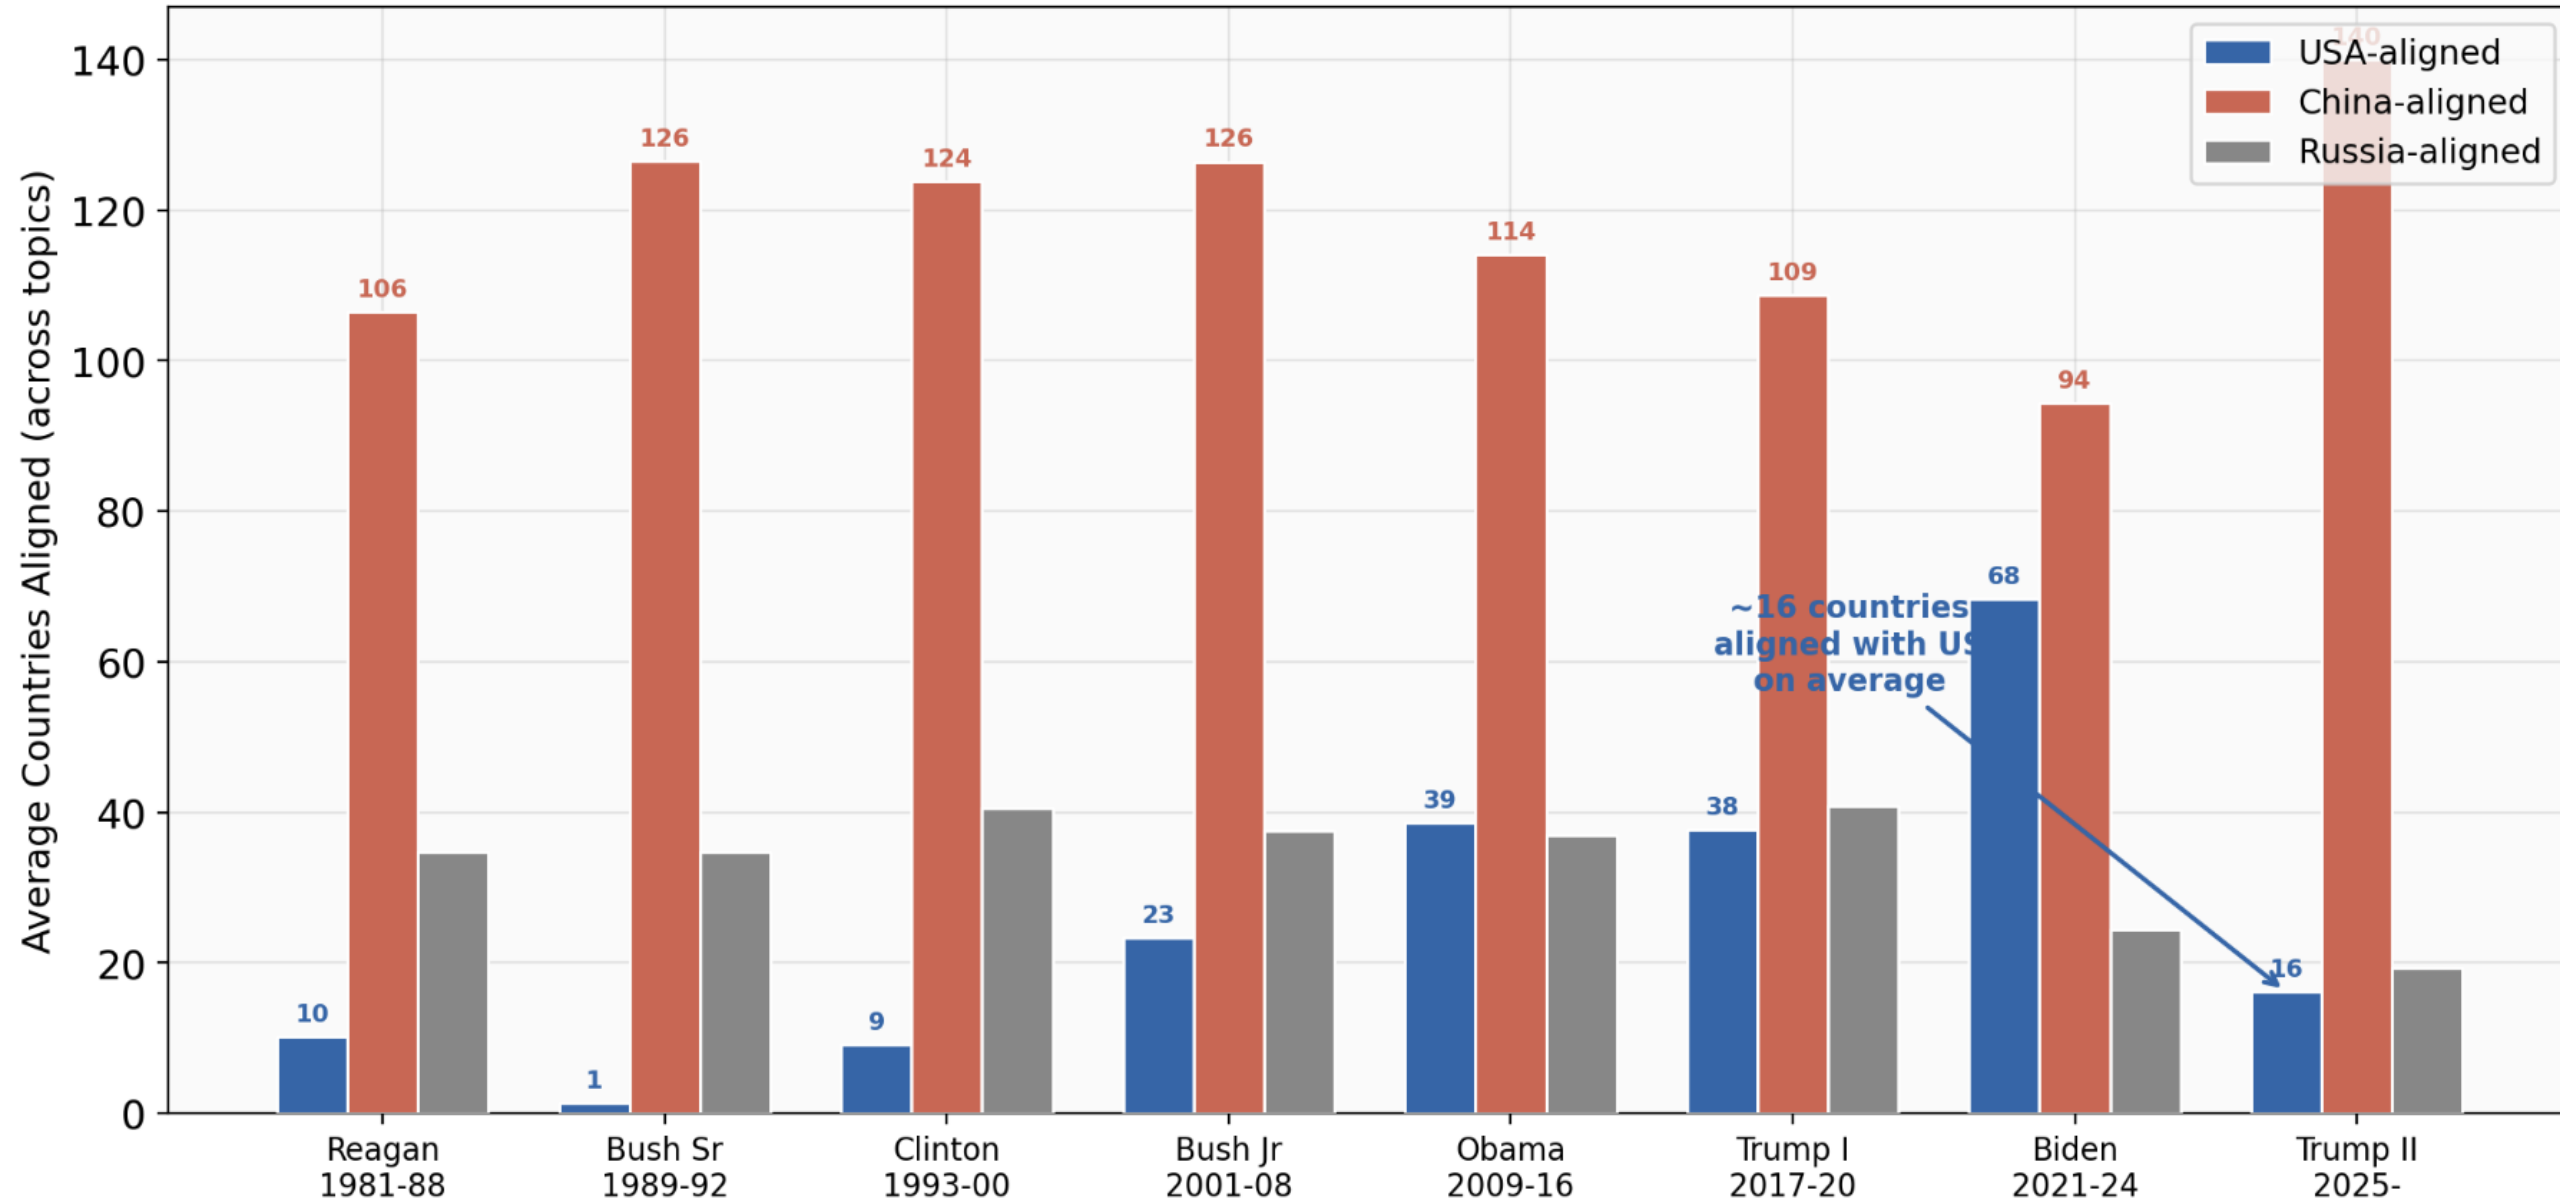

▼ TRUMP II

Data: 5,694 UNGA resolutions classified into 10 topic categories | Cell values = % of countries voting with the US

Superpower Bloc Sizes in the UNGA

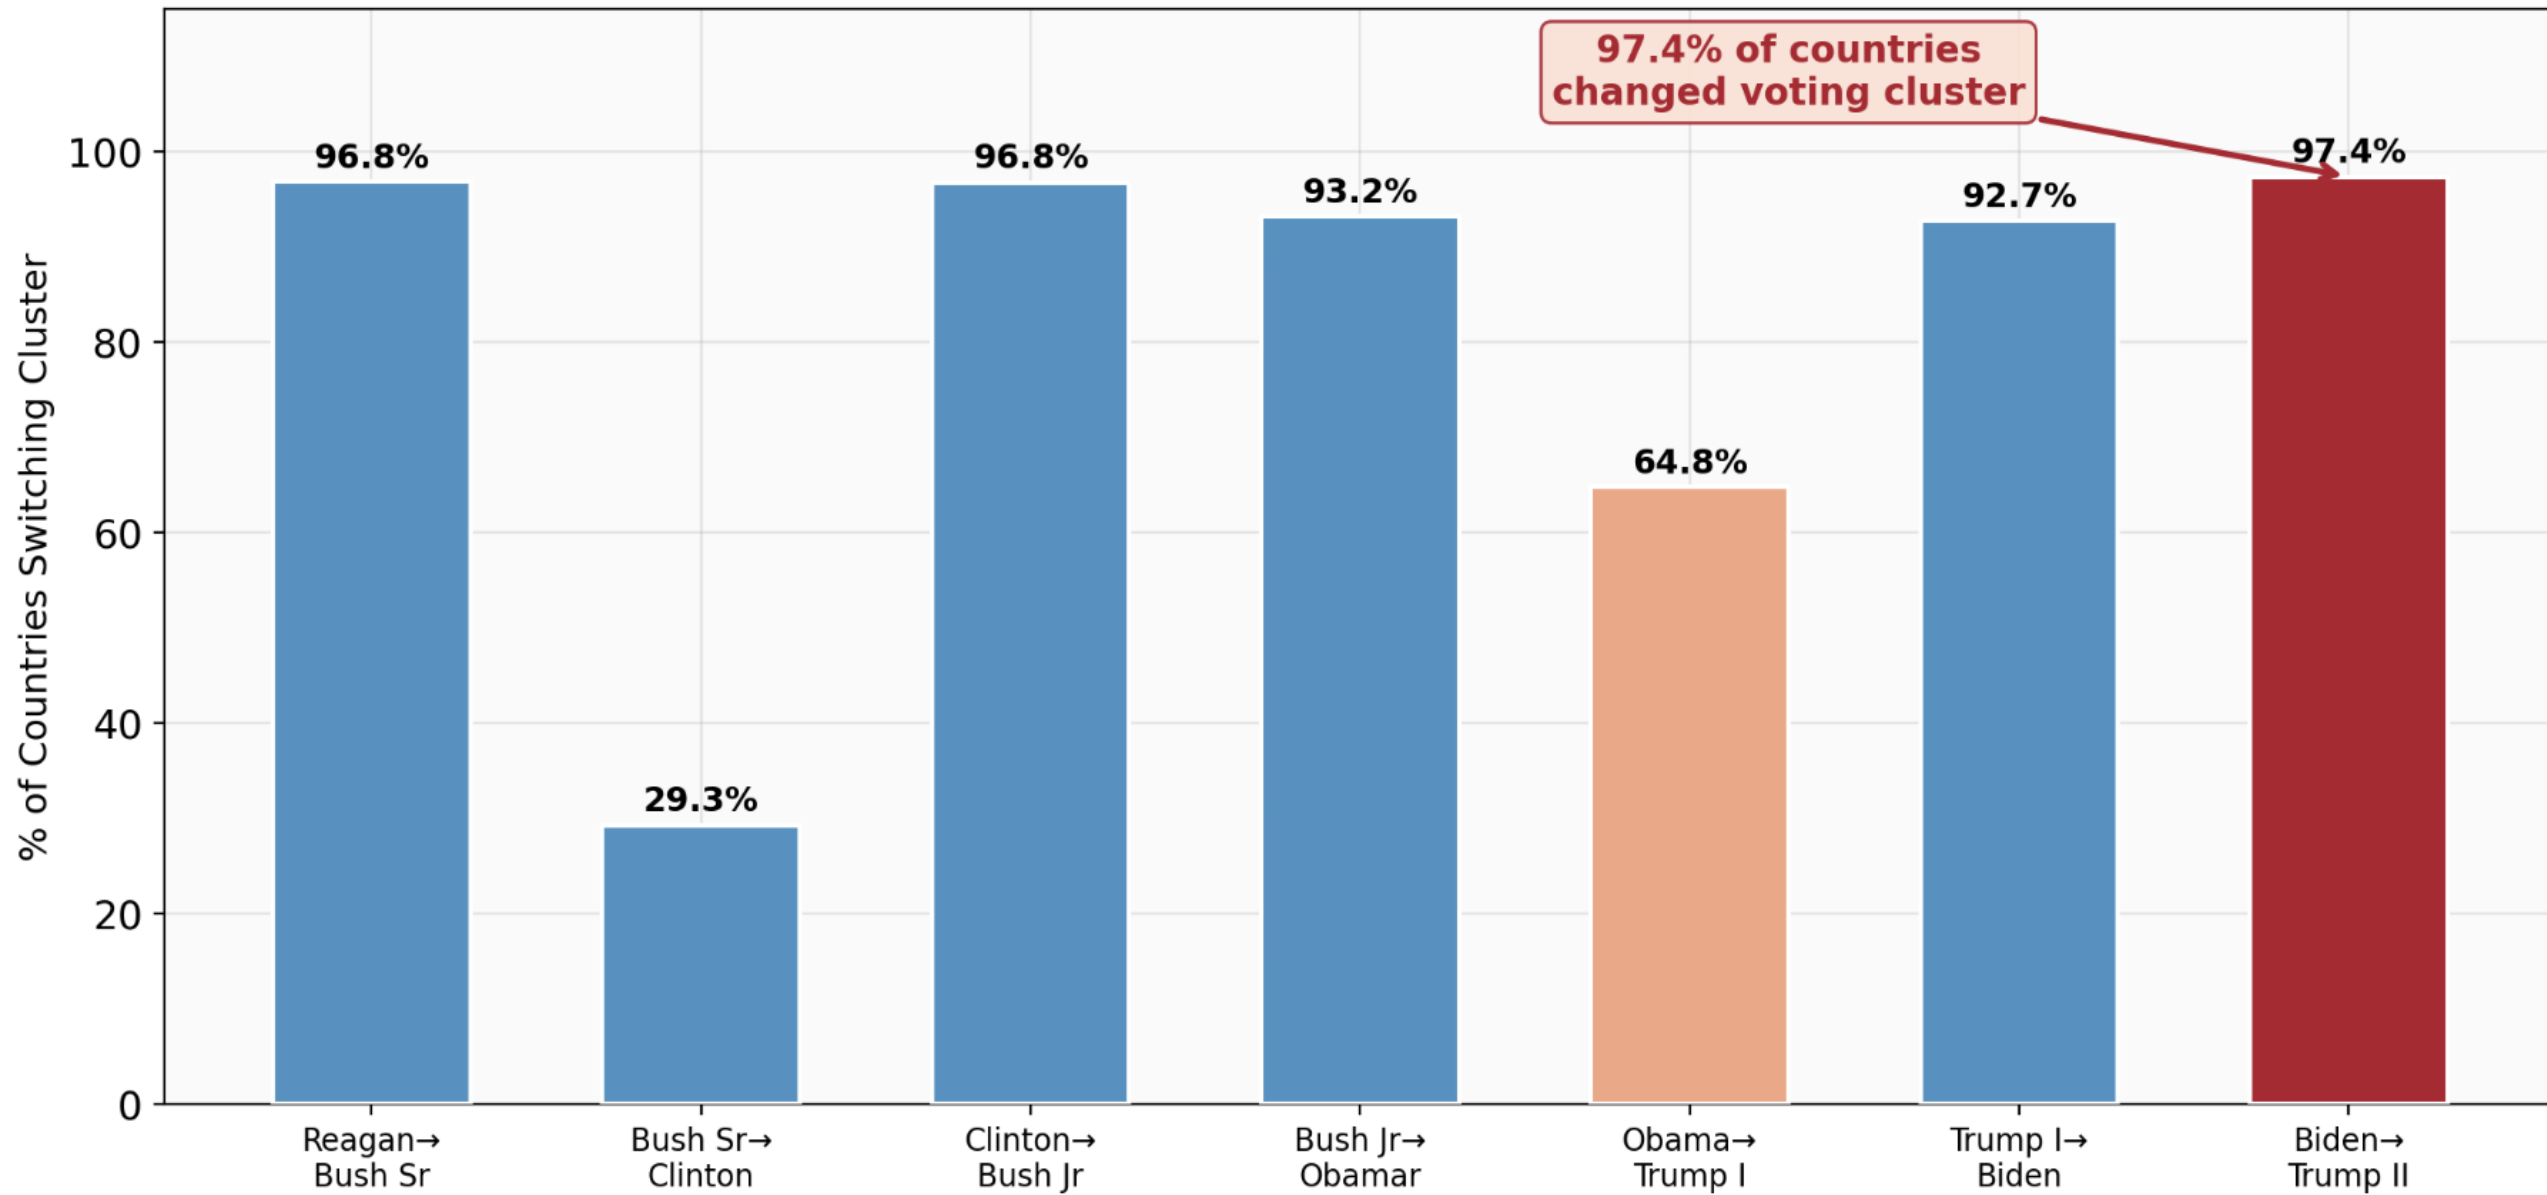

USA Has the Smallest Coalition — Shrinking Under Trump II

Alignment defined as: majority of votes matching the reference power per topic per presidency

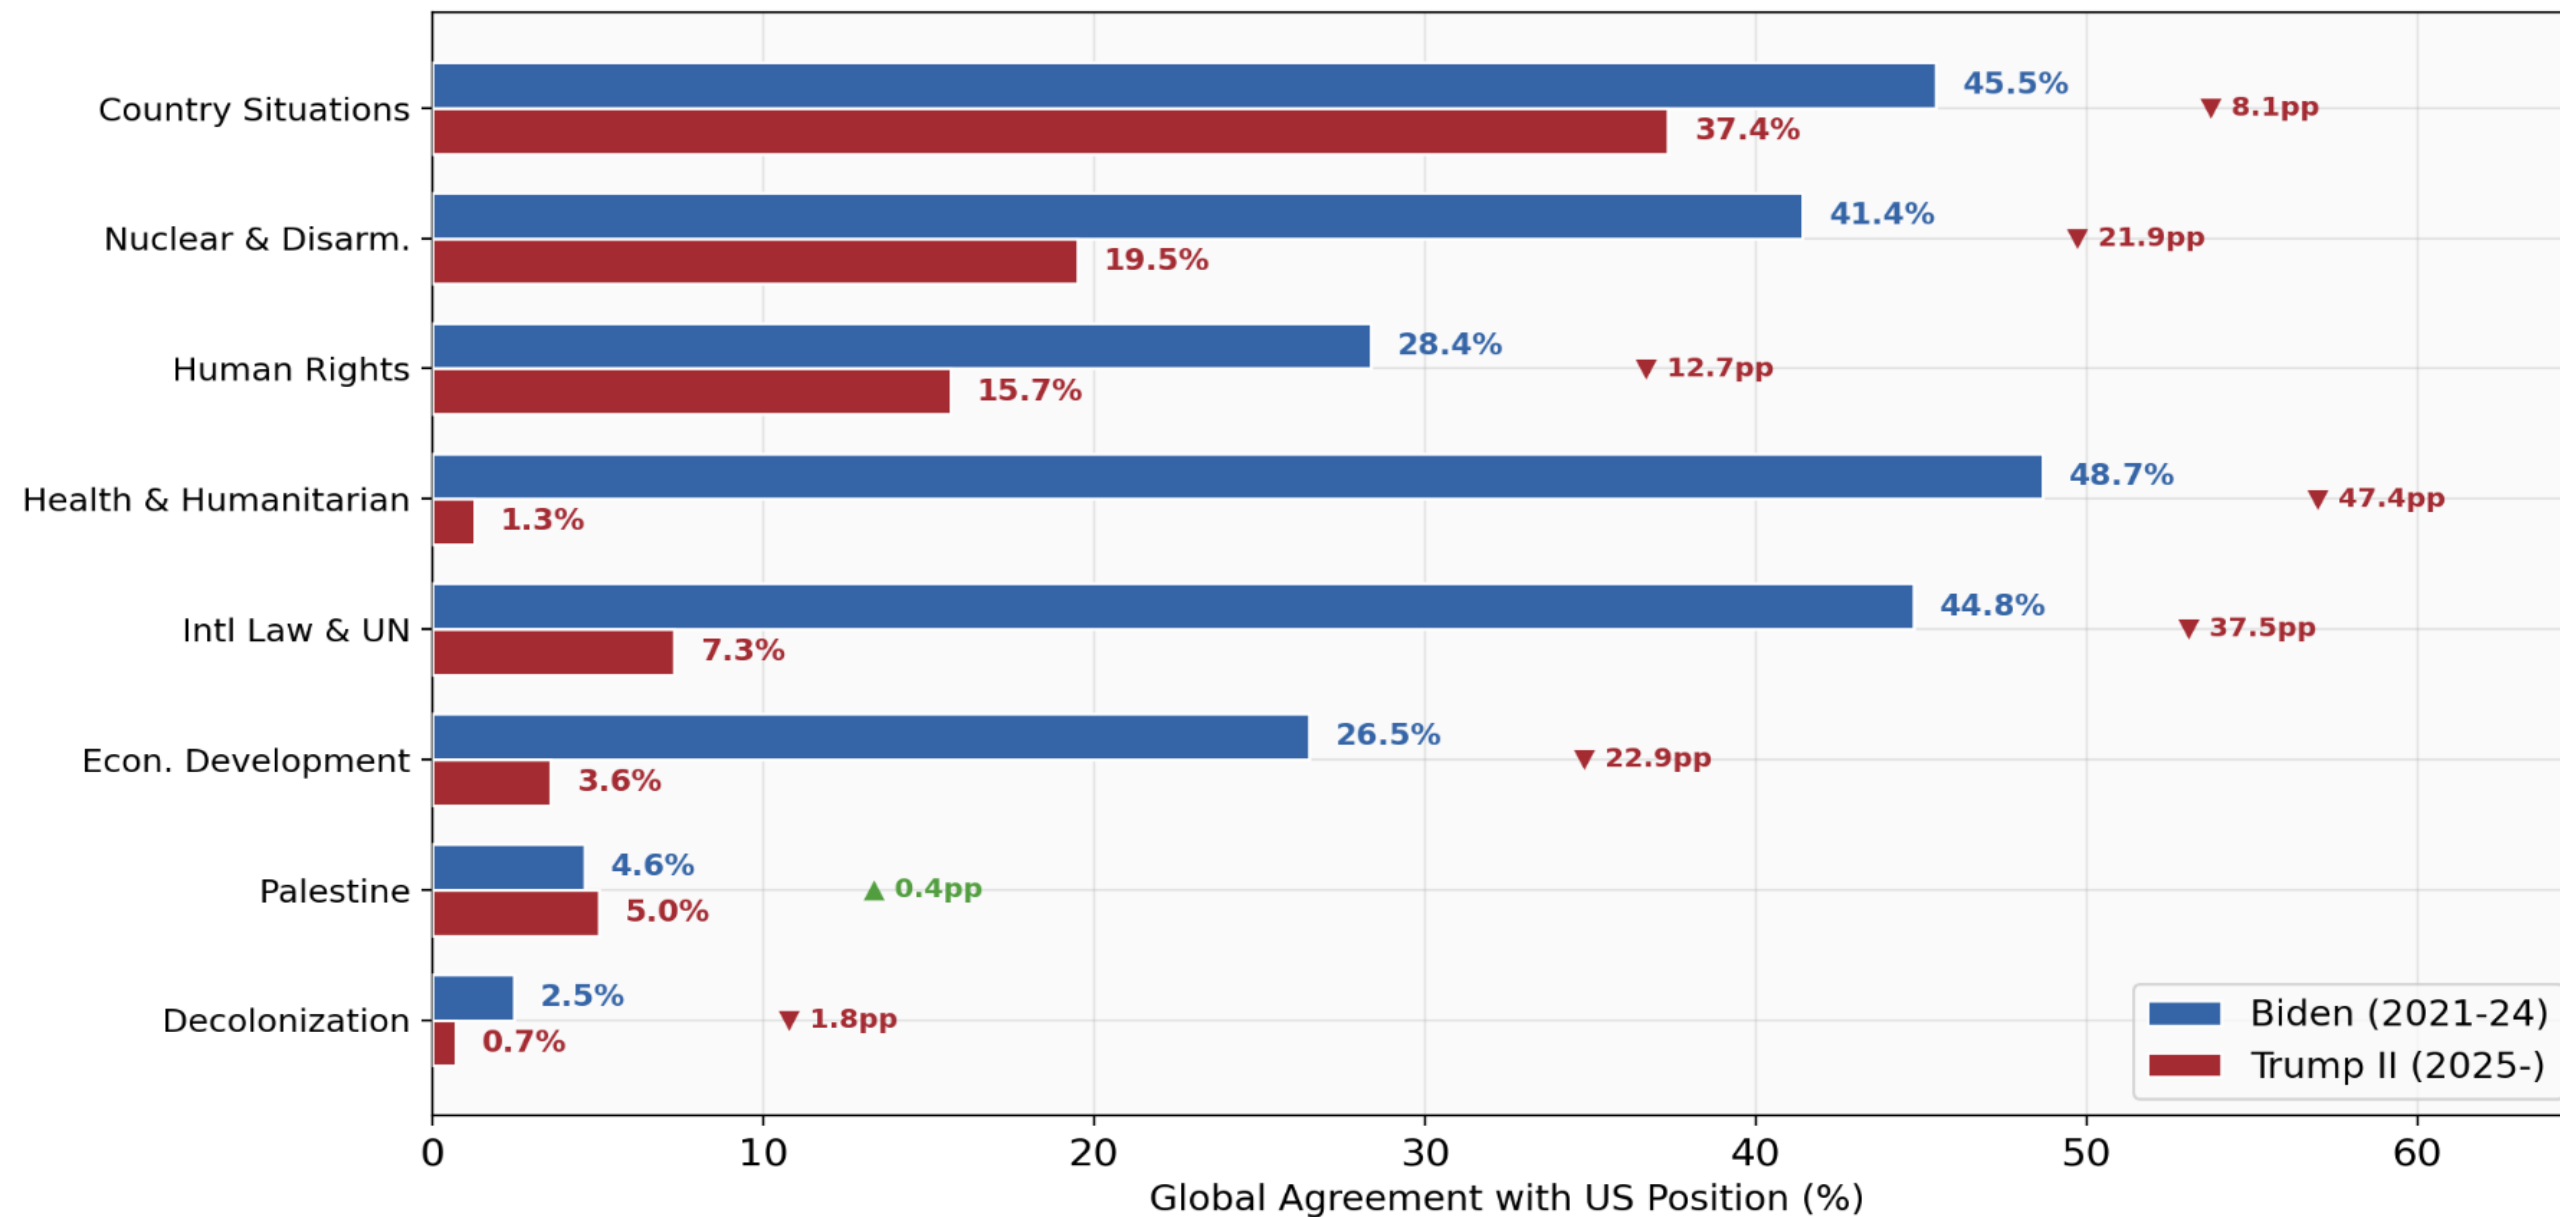

Global Realignment at Presidential Transitions

Biden → Trump II = Highest Disruption in 40 Years (97.4%)

Cluster switching rate: % of countries whose K-means voting cluster changed between consecutive presidencies

Biden → Trump II: Topic-by-Topic Collapse US Agreement Drops on Every Major Issue

Agreement = % of UN member states voting the same way as the US on resolutions in each topic category

From Coalition Management to Confrontational Positioning: The U.S. Network Shift Under Trump II

Metrics reveal a shift from partial multilateral embeddedness toward greater structural isolation, reduced brokerage capacity, and intensified bloc polarization under Trump II.

